

Dr. Rainer Engelhardt - bio:

- Rainer Engelhardt, PhD - Founder and Chief Executive Officer of Eulytica Ltd.; formerly founding executive and CEO of GangaGen Life Sciences Inc., Dr. Engelhardt received his Ph.D. in biomedical physiology from the University of Guelph in 1974, and began his career as a professor at Southeastern Massachusetts University and then the University of Ottawa. Dr. Engelhardt joined the Government of Canada in 1981, in executive management positions with responsibilities for development of federal legislation and environmental regulation, and for large-scale national and international industry-government S&T programs, with emphasis on the Arctic. He joined the private sector in the US in 1989 as Executive Vice President with MSRC, and helped found this billion dollar company. He has held lead executive positions for technology-based enterprises during their start-up phases, including public companies. He is currently Chairman of BIOTECanada, the country's lead national biotechnology/life sciences association and serves on the boards of other companies.